

Senior Backend Developer (m/f)

A young, med.-tech. specialized company in the heart of Vienna is actively looking for talent to support their mission!

The company is striving for a better accessible healthcare system for the whole society. They have elaborated methods and technologies, which are already providing significant advantages compared to traditional medical analysis processes (speed, quality, price, etc.).

If you want to work in a flexible and modern environment, with highly skilled and open minded colleagues incl. Home-office possibilities + diverse social benefits (vienna card, food & drinks in the office + free coffee ;)). Then this is the perfect company for you!

Tasks:

- Development and maintenance of the business logic + APIs for the core design engine
- Development and maintenance of functional-reactive applications
- Collaboration with the engineering team to create new products
- Responsibility and reliability for all server-SW components
- Creation and Execution of a testing/automation strategy
- Ensure to deliver the max. benefit to user, based on what is possible on the market

Requirements:

- 5+ years of SW-dev. experience (backend/full-stack)
- 2+ years of experience with Clojure
- Experience with AWS
- Deep understanding in software patterns, clean code + architecture principles, security-building in DevOps + testing and automation
- Script/automate everything – mindset
- Well organized, structure, attention to detail and accuracy
- Positive, resilient attitude, even when things go south
- Independent, flexible, dynamic and fast-paced environment = comfortable for you
- Building your own structures within the company goals
- Fluent in English

The Offer:

- A young, dynamic team of experts and venture-capitalists in Europe and the US
- Building next-generation healthcare solutions from scratch and participating on its progress
- Flat-hierarchy, flexible working hours, home-office
- A nice office in the 1st district with free coffee, fruits, etc.
- Vienna transit card
- Team activities (sport, retreats, etc.)
- A competitive salary, which starts at €70.000
- Permanent contract

Your dreamjob?

Then apply right away under the link of this vacancy or via: office@request.at !